OU Unit To Help War on Poverty

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—A Regional Development Institution on the Ohio University campus will play a major part in the war on poverty in southeastern Ohio. This was disclosed by university sources Thursday night after President Johnson announced that the federal Area Redevelopment Administration (ARA) had signed a contract to help establish the institution.

William Sheehan of Battelle Memorial Institute, Columbus, has been hired to direct the institution, university sources said.

The President announced signing of the ARA contract during his speech on the Ohio U. campus Thursday. He told his audience that establishment of the institution "will make Ohio University the focal point of economic development for the southeastern Ohio area."

A university spokesman told

The Associated Press Thursday night that plans for the institution have been under way for more than a month, but President Johnson's announcement of ARA support supplied the project with its first real boost.

"The project was begun near the end of March and a director (Sheehan) was hired about the beginning of April in the hope that financial support would come later from government and private interests," the spokesman said.

Washington sources said establishing the institution is expected to cost $132,500. The ARA reportedly will contribute $104,000 in technical assistance funds.

The ARA said 21 southeastern Ohio counties will be served by the institution: Adams, Athens, Belmont, Brown, Clermont, Gallia, Guernsey, Highland, Hocking, Jackson, Lawrence, Meigs, Monroe, Morgan, Noble, Perry, Pike, Ross, Scioto, Vinton and Washington.

The Ohio U. spokesman said the idea for the Regional Development Institution began when the southeastern Ohio Regional Council was revitalized about a year ago.

He said leaders of the area wanted to establish a research body which could provide information on southeastern Ohio to businesses and other interests desiring to locate there.

He said support for the institution, in addition to government funds, is expected to come from fees paid by private interests for research services performed by the institution.

The institution is expected to call on faculty members from Ohio University and Rio Grande and Marietta colleges to do the research, the spokesman said.

Egypt's Police Await Khrush

Rigid Security Measures Taken

CAIRO (AP)—Maximum security precautions are being quietly tightened for the arrival of Premier Khrushchev Saturday, and special communication equipment has been installed to give the Soviet leader instant contact with Moscow.

Troops, police and plainclothes agents from Egyptian army intelligence have been assigned to guard Khrushchev. Reports said as many as 200 Soviet security agents will accompany the premier.

Special telephone lines to Moscow were reported being set up from Cairo and Aswan, 430 miles to the south, to Moscow. Khrushchev's route will take him from Alexandria, his port of landing, to Cairo, Port Said and other points.

As a further precaution two special planes have been sent from the Soviet Union to take Khrushchev around the United Arab Republic. Soviet sources said the premier would not fly aboard Egyptian planes—many of which were built by the Soviet Union.

Khrushchev's ship, the Armenia, will arrive for a festive welcome at Alexandria Saturday morning. With President Gamal Abdel Nasser, Khrushchev will immediately plunge into a busy schedule.

There will be a series of speeches and talks with Nasser, visits to factories, the pyramids and sphinx, and tours of the massive Soviet-financed Aswan High Dam project. But 13 afternoons have been kept free so Khrushchev can rest.

Next Thursday, after the dedication ceremonies at Aswan, Khrushchev and Nasser will spend a day fishing in the Red Sea from the official yacht Hourrya.

The Soviet leader's flight home is scheduled for May 25 but unofficial sources said there is a possibility he will stay one more day to rest.

U.S. Business Community Is Warm toward Johnson

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP)—There were plentiful signs, as the Business Council began weekend meetings with high administration officials today, that President Johnson has gone far toward winning the confidence of business.

Several of the 100 top industrialists here for the council's spring conference—mostly Republicans—told reporters privately they feel Johnson has shown sympathy and understanding for the problems of businessmen.

Some said they believed this view was widely held in the industrial and financial community.

One explained: "They feel a lot more comfortable with him than they did with President Kennedy. They think he really listens to them when he asks for their advice, and they know he always did ask advice from business friends, when he was senator and vice president."

Said another: "He got off on the right foot with business from the start by cutting the budget and promising a dollar's value for every taxpayer's dollar spent."

The $11.5-billion tax cut, paring of the federal pay rolls, and the President's apparent appreciation of the role of corporate profits as a basic ingredient of economic growth were among other factors cited as appealing to business leaders.

Most of the council's active membership—which embraces many of the biggest names in industry—have had close contact with Johnson since he became President. Two of them, railroad president Stuart Saunders and auto manufacturer Henry Ford II, headed the Business Committee for Tax Reduction.

About one-third of the council's members were among the 70 prominent industrialists and financiers who were Johnson's guests at a White House dinner last week and heard the President pledge:

"For as long as I am President, the leaders of industry and finance are going to be welcome in this house."

Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and several of his aides at the Justice Department were to address the council's closed meeting today on the implications for businessmen of the pending civil rights bill.

Robert Lanes Schatzman, 28, received a minor head wound in a gun battle with Ohio highway patrolmen and Zanesville police officers at a road block on U. S. 40 about three miles west of here.

Officers said Schatzman held up the Howard Johnson Motel in the Columbus suburb of Whitehall about 3 a. m. and took the night clerk, Ingo Williams of Gahanna, with him as a hostage in Williams' car.

Highway patrolmen spotted the car in Muskingum County, gave chase and radioed ahead to Zanesville police to block the road.

Schatzman and police exchanged several shots before Schatzman was hit. Officers and Williams were unharmed.

WORD HAS been received here that Donald Harden, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Harden, was aboard the Destroyer USS Decatur that was involved in a collision Wednesday with the aircraft carrier USS Lake Champlain.

Young Harden was not injured in the seagoing crash off the coast of Virginia. The local sailor reported resulting damage amounted to about $12 million to his ship.

The destroyer had just refueled. This added buoyancy perhaps played a major role in keeping the Decatur afloat, young Harden explained in correspondence with his parents.

Once Around Roundtown

ACTIVITIES of Clean-up, Paint-Up, Fix-Up Week are continuing at a steady pace in Circleville. Mayor Ben H. Gordon today requested that Court and Main Sts. in the downtown area be kept free of parked autos tonight.

Mayor Gordon said service department workers will be cleaning the streets beginning midnight. But the job cannot be done effectively if parked autos obstruct the path of the huge mobile broom. Other city streets will be cleaned during the day.

BOARD of Election workers today began the official count of ballots cast in Tuesday's primary. One worker said the official tabulation is expected to be completed by late Tuesday.

Any candidate desiring recount of particular precincts will have five days to make a decision after the official tab is posted. As of today there was no definite indication of such a request.

Loaded, Cocked Pistol Found in Plane Wreckage

CONCORD, Calif. (AP)—A cocked and loaded pistol found in the trail of wreckage left by a Pacific Air Lines plane has brought the FBI into the investigation of Thursday's crash.

All 44 persons aboard the turbo-prop airliner were killed. A quarter-mile of metal fragments, a garbled tape recording, tin gun and bits of the victims' bodies were all the evidence that Civil Aeronautics Board investigators had to work with.

The plane, a morning flight from Reno, Nev., went down after stopping in Stockton, Calif., just 40 miles east, San Francisco, its destination.

Seconds before the airliner plunged nose first to earth, a garbled message came over its radio but was lost in a screech of static and electronic squeals. The Federal Aviation Agency had a tape recording of it that investigators hoped would provide some clue.

The FBI took charge of a cocked and loaded 38-caliber revolver. At first it was believed to belong to a San Francisco police inspector, George Lacau, who with his wife, Betty, was a passenger on the plane.

A check in police records, however, showed that none of the three revolvers registered by Lacau had the serial numbers of the weapon found in the wreckage.

"Our captains are authorized to carry a gun," said a Pacific Air Lines spokesman. "But none has ever done so to our knowledge."

Sheriff Walter Young asked the FBI disaster squad to use their special fingerprint techniques to make positive identification of the dead. Coroner Dr. William Bogart refused to allow relatives to view the remains.

"There's just nothing left to show them," explained Dr. Bogart. "No one would be recognizable."

"We saw the plane coming in low, flying in kind of a glide, with its left engine not turning at all," said David Silva, 21, who was washing his car when the airliner came in over his house. "The right engine was making a terrible roar, revving hard," Silva continued. "Then the plane vanished over the top."

Justice Among Races Is Urged

ATLANTA (AP)—President Johnson got a massive public reception today in the streets of Atlanta after making a forceful appeal for "justice among the races."

Johnson's 8-mile motorcade through the largest city in the Deep South drew cheering crowds estimated by police at more than 500,000.

The President constantly stopped his car after leaving a closed car to ride in a convertible. He stood on the trunk and spoke to the crowds through a megaphone.

Streets were jammed with people. They crowded in about the President's car when he stopped to comment on a sign that said, "We're the school that gave $100 to the camel driver"—a reference to famous Johnson-inspired trip of a Pakistani camel driver.

"We love Atlanta and its people," he told the crowds.

In an earlier speech, Johnson urged rejection of extremists "who seek to stir old hostilities and kindle old hatreds."

Johnson's call for racial justice drew applause from a breakfast audience that included members of the Georgia Legislature.

In his prepared text, Johnson had suggested that much of the South would find racial peace "before the end of racial strife in the cities of the North."

Johnson dropped this sentence when he delivered his speech, but the White House said he stood behind the prepared statement.

In a speech prepared for a public square meeting at his next stop—Gainesville, Ga.—the President said he wanted a government of compassion.

He spoke from the same spot that President Franklin D. Roosevelt occupied 26 years ago in a visit to Gainesville after it was rebuilt from the ruin of a tornado.

"Today—with Franklin Roosevelt's son by my side—I have come to Gainesville to say that his work and ours is not finished," he said. He referred to Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr.

Roosevelt, he said, was the champion of the poor and of the aged, the forgotten farmer and neglected worker. Johnson pledged to carry forward his war on poverty and his push for equal rights for all citizens.

"Full participation in our society can no longer be denied to men because of their race, religion or region," he said.

Johnson made a dramatic appeal for the civil rights cause in an address at a breakfast meeting in Atlanta with members of the Georgia Legislature. His references to what he called the "many troubles" of the South were certain to be regarded as unusually significant.

Winding up a six-state tour of poverty-pocked Appalachia, the President suggested that in searching for racial justice, Georgia and the South "have a sure and faithful guide—the Constitution of the United States."

He declared: "Because the Constitution requires it—and because justice demands it—we must protect the constitutional rights of all of our people."

"For no one of us is fully free until all of us are fully free. And the rights of no single American are truly secure until the rights of all Americans are secure."

Johnson said that "racial problems have deep roots in Southern soil." However, he emphasized his view that such problems are not peculiar to any single section, saying: "They also trouble the passions of men on the shores of Maryland, in the slums of Philadelphia and in the streets of New York."

Pressure Appears Easing In Civil Rights Bill Debate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders announced today there would be no session Saturday in the civil rights debate. It was another sign that pressure through prolonged sessions was easing off.

Senators applauded when Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., the assistant leader, said the Senate would recess at the close of today's business until Monday.

The Senate has met every Saturday since the debate started March 9 except for the East or weekend.

The leaders also appear practically to have abandoned night sessions in the marathon debate.

The leaders are basing their hopes for passage of the bill on negotiations being conducted in the office of Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of Illinois, to work out a package of amendments to the bill.

Today's study was of changes Dirksen wants in the public accommodations section.

Truckers Strike;

Woman, 57, Drives

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Clara J. Heilman, petite, 57, and the mother of six, is driving one of the family's linen supply trucks.

The 11 drivers employed by the Heilmans joined their Teamsters local on strike against Kansas City laundries in April.

About three weeks ago, undelivered bundles threatened to bury Mrs. Heilman at her bookkeeper's desk. She loaded up a truck and took off. Some of the bundles weigh up to 60 pounds.

"The first day or two I was kind of sore from the lifting and jumping in and out of the truck," she said. "Now I sort of enjoy getting out and around."

WASHINGTON (AP)—Pilots, using only closed-circuit television for vision, recently made 45 successful landings and three take-offs, the government reported today.

The Commerce Department's Office of Technical Services said the experiments were carried out with the television camera mounted in the wing of trainer-type aircraft. Pilots made the landings and take-offs while viewing a 12-inch screen in the cockpit.

Ohio Bishop To Be Sent To Orient

The Methodist Council of Bishop has selected him to provide episcopal supervision in Hong Kong and Formosa, serve as liaison officer to the Korean Methodist Church and develop a world wide program in the area of Christian family living. The assignment is for four years.

As a result, Ohio's Methodists will have a new bishop, to be appointed when Bishop Werner's assignment becomes effective at the close of the North Central Jurisdictional Conference in Cleveland, Ohio, July 8-12.

Announcement of bishop Werner's new assignment was announced Thursday during the Methodist General Conference meeting here. The announcement said he will make his headquarters in Hong Kong.

During his 16 years of leadership of Ohio Methodism, church membership in the state has risen from 533,405 to more than 614,000 to rank first among the denomination's 44 areas.

Stock Mart Still Climbs

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved further into record high ground early this afternoon as steels and Chrysler continued their leadership. Trading was active.

Rails began to move higher after an uncertain start, lending their support to the industrials.

The rest of the stock list had a muddled appearance. Tobacco and airlines were lower. The pattern was mixed among oils, chemicals, nonferrous metals, retails, aerospace issues and electronics.

A number of the higher-priced office equipments, photographic and computer stocks moved up in response to renewed trading demand.

As the market advance moved into its sixth straight day, however, there were plenty of soft spots. Many issues were unchanged.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 3 at 307.7 with industrials up 4, rails up 3 and utilities up 2.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.02 at 831.19.

Famed Gold Spike Era Recalled

PROMONTORY POINT, Utah (AP)—The Golden Spike Association will re-enact Saturday the linking of the first railroad tracks across North America at Promontory Point in northwestern Utah.

The ceremony will mark the 95th anniversary of the link between the Union Pacific and the Central Pacific railroads.

The first golden spike was driven May 10, 1869.

The son of the telegrapher who flashed the word "Done" to President Ulysses S. Grant when the golden spike was set, will repeat his father's message. He is Frank L. Davis, 86, of Tremonton, Utah.

Farmer Set To Jerk Up Phone Cable

PALESTINE, Tex. (AP)—Something has to give on Juan Macias' place today—either the Texas Telephone and Telegraph Co.'s cable underlying the land, or the farmer's determination in a phone bill fuss.

Macias has his tractor parked beside the cable ready to jerk it out unless the company begins removing it by 4 p. m.

He received verbal support Thursday from the Rev. Collin Furr, president of a telephone subscribers association opposing a recent rate increase of 33 1/2 per cent.

The farmer and some 2,000 other subscribers want the rate hike rescinded, or their phones removed. The company cut Macias' service after he paid part of a back bill, but he contends that if he doesn't have service, the company shouldn't have access across his land.

"I've got to do this to show them I mean business," Macias said.

Rail Strike Ended by Court Order

CHICAGO (AP)—U. S. marshals served a court order early today ending the last of strikes against four railroads by firemen protesting the elimination of hundreds of firemen's jobs under an arbitration ruling.

The marshals served the temporary injunction against 25 pickets at the Joliet, Ill., switching yards of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern Railway.

The order was issued in a special night session by U. S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman in Chicago.

More than 800 railway workers had respected the picket lines set up by the 25 firemen Thursday after brief strikes against three other railroads had already ended.

Firemen struck at 12:01 a. m. Thursday, the hour of the start of the job elimination, against two Illinois switching lines, the Toledo, Peoria & Western Railroad and the Peoria & Pekin Union Railway. But about 10 hours later the walkout was called off by officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen after telephone calls from union chiefs in Washington. The strikes had idled about 950 workers.

Slashed Ag Budget OK'd

Billion Cut Off Last Year's Level

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Agriculture Department appropriation of $5,182,665,000, reduced $1,059,632,215 from last year's level, was approved today by the House Appropriations Committee.

Sending the bill to the House, the committee directed the department to reshuffle some of its spending plans, continuing a number of research stations and programs that had been scheduled for elimination or reduction.

It told the department to balance the cost by cutting down on work for the Agency for International Development's programs.

The committee included $3 million for research on tobacco and insecticides, directing that it begin immediately.

Its report said the $8-billion tobacco industry is deeply affected by findings linking smoking with cancer and other diseases and it is vital "to determine the properties of tobacco which may affect the health of smokers and to develop means to eliminate any harmful substances found."

Publicity about pesticides, which the report said was "not always based on complete and objective information" and that sometimes presents "a completely one-sided point of view" has needlessly frightened consumers and damaged the interests of farmers and manufacturers, the committee said.

The committee also suggested that provision be made for "payment of financial losses to any producer, processor or manufacturer" resulting from government agencies' statements about pesticides, "where there is no evidence that their use endangers the public health."

Speed Results In Stiff Fine

Jearl Lee Blankenship, 21, Columbus, cited into Circleville Municipal Court by the Ohio State Highway Patrol for speeding 90 miles per hour in a 50-mile zone was fined $50 and costs today by Judge Sterling M. Lamb.

Also appearing was Gerald L. Walby, 32, Galina, who was handed a $50 fine for reckless operation. Judge Lamb suspended $25 of the fine.

James L. Towns, Columbus, was fined $50 and costs for driving left of center against the normal flow of traffic.

Kenneth Kirk, 22, Columbus; $29 bond forfeiture for speeding 70 miles per hour in a 50 mile zone.

Robert C. Valentine, 112 Fairview Ave.; $15 and costs for failure to heed a stop sign.

Thomas E. Moore, 21, Columbus; $29 bond forfeiture for speeding 80 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Raymond Ledford, 32, Columbus; $50 bond forfeiture for speeding 90 miles per hour in a 60 mile zone.

Barr said the committee discussed its proposals for the association's annual convention scheduled June 1, 2 and 3.

Enforcement Agencies Prep For National Police Week

Community law enforcement agencies were busy today preparing for special observance of National Police Week, May 10-16.

Circleville Policemen have set up a two-man committee to outline a program. Handling these chores are Sgt. Turney Ross and Patrolman Jack Mills.

A highlight will be a Peace Officers Memorial Day Service on May 15 for deceased members of local departments. This observance will be conducted at Forest Cemetery.

Another special event will be a vehicle safety check on May 16. A similar check will be conducted tomorrow by the Circleville Kiwanis Club and local Boy Scouts.

POLICE Chief Robert Temple said motorists unable to participate in the check tomorrow may have their vehicles checked the following Saturday.

Assisting city police with the vehicle check May 16 will be a unit from the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department, one from the local State Highway Patrol Post and personnel and cruisers from the Franklin County Sheriff's Department.

Officers Ross and Mills said the safety check will be conducted on N. Court St. between Lewis Ave. and Pleasant St. from 9 a. m. to noon. Various articles of police equipment will be on display and coffee will be available.

According to Ross and Mills, relatives of deceased officers will be invited to participate in the Memorial Service at the Cemetery, along with city officials. The event is scheduled to start at 2 p. m.

No citations were issued following investigation of the accident by local patrolmen.

Views on TV - Radio

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"Nobody ever said we'd have a 30 minute satire show every week," said Leland Hayward, almost angrily. "That Was the Week That Was" is simply a program that makes comments on what's going on in the world.

Hayward is executive producer and owner of the Friday night NBC show.

"I think that, all things considered, we're doing pretty well, although I'm never happy with it and am always trying to make it better," the producer continued. "But all satire—never."

"We're always in a rush," he said, "and much of the time we have to cut, rewrite, even add new material between the dress rehearsal and the time we're on the air. Occasionally, something that looked okay in the dress rehearsal bothers us when it goes on the air—that business about Eisenhower, for instance, should never have been in."

He referred to mimicking the ex-president in a way that affronted some viewers.

Hayward said that he is spending "just about all my time" on the show—much more than he planned—and currently is busy trying out new people.

He worries most about the sketches, knowing that most of them cannot be honed to perfection in limited time.

Next season, the show will be moved to a Tuesday night berth in the network schedule.

Before the "Emmy" awards balloting takes place, there will be considerable incidental electioneering lighting up the nation's television screens.

Tonight, for instance, NBC's Bob Hope Theatre will re-run "Two Is the Number" with the performance that won Shelley Winters a nomination. And on Sunday, ABC's "Arrest and Trial" will repeat the "Journey into Darkness" episode that produced nominations for Roddy McDowall and actresses Martine Bartlett and Anjanette Comer.

Probation Violation Laid to Columbusite

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Neal Standford Borrow of Columbus was to appear in federal court today on a charge of violating probation. Borrow was sentenced to five years probation in March 1961 in connection with the forgery of a treasury check. He was arrested at his home by the FBI Thursday.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shortly before his death President John F. Kennedy said he would take on his Republican opponent in the 1964 presidential race in television-radio debates. So far President Johnson has declined to say what he will do.

It would have been easy for Kennedy, an old hand at it after his four debates with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in 1960. All of them did Kennedy good. And no Republican then in sight seemed likely to outdo him.

Johnson, with no experience in this kind of national encounter, gave this answer when asked about the debates at his Dec. 18 news conference.

"I will make those decisions at the time I am the nominee and in the light of the circumstances existing then. For the present, I am not going to discuss any political matter."

He didn't stick to that absolutely. He has made some cracks about Republicans and practically everything he has done since has been a political matter in the sense of building up his voter appeal.

He's been so homey and down-to-earth and folksy and reassuring to so many people in so many fields of interest that he has created a picture of himself as a sort of national big daddy.

The public opinion polls indicate the people are eating it up. If he doesn't overdo it, no Republican candidate could possibly match him in public exposure since he's President and everything he does is news.

That raises the first question: Why, with this advantage should he let an opponent, in one leap before the cameras and with one turn of the dial, enjoy the same spotlight with and perhaps do him damage by outdoing him?

The same question could have been asked about Kennedy, although not in 1960. Then Nixon was the national figure who had spent eight years as vice president building himself up. Kennedy was just a senator from Massachusetts.

But after the very first debate, in which many felt he had bettered Nixon, he had to be equated in the public mind with the vice president.

As President, by debating a Republican contender, Kennedy would have been granting his opponent the same kind of exposure he himself got in his set-to with Nixon. Why do it, then?

One guess is that Kennedy felt supremely confident about handling anyone the Republicans sent against him. If only for lack of experience, Johnson can't be sure he'd make out as well.

Through the fresh insights they'd get into Johnson and his opposition arguing the issues in 1964, voters would be able to reach more intelligent decisions about both of them.

But Johnson, like Kennedy, is a politician with a race to win and the main problem of how. That would be the primary consideration for both. That's a practical reason for Johnson wanting to wait till he sees what he's up against.

By campaign time Johnson may decide, danger or not, the debates are necessary.

For instance: To restore public acceptance through serious discussion if by then he has made some goofs in the presidency or suffered disfavor by too much running around and too much talking off the cuff.

Besides, he is thin-skinned. If he says he won't debate, the Republicans no doubt would try to needle him into changing his mind by attacking his reluctance to face his opponent.

There's a good reason now to think he might welcome the debates. He seemed a little uncertain of himself, starting out, but he seems to be developing so much confidence in his voter appeal that he is now unpredictable from hour to hour.

Exhaust Smog Doomed

Disclosure by the Automobile Manufacturers Association that all American cars built in 1967 will have built-in systems to burn up exhaust impurities serves as a reminder that the war against air pollution is far from over.

Automobiles account for only a small measure of air pollution in most parts of the United States, but their exhausts do contribute to the general hazard. California, which has enacted the most severe exhaust restrictions of any state (and which, in Los Angeles, also suffers from the worst smog conditions) is largely responsible for the rapid improvement in auto control devices. Ten per cent of new car sales are made in that state.

So-called "blowby" devices are standard equipment on all American manufactured cars now, but the designs planned for 1967 models will be more efficient and require less maintenance than present equipment.

Most large cities long ago cleaned up industrial pollutants to a great extent. When the auto purifiers have been made available to the vast majority of the cars on the roads the major man-made pollutants will have been eliminated.

Air over a large city will not be as fresh and clean as an ocean breeze, but man has made great strides in the last decade toward cleaning up part of the environment he seemed intent upon turning into a grimy, gloomy, and sticky place to live.

Where geographic location and climatic conditions conspire to collect pollution in population pockets, smog will not disappear entirely. But like the cough which does not disappear immediately after the last smoke, elimination of each major contributor to air pollution brings with it the satisfaction of knowing that an intolerable situation has been made a little less so.

Peter Nero Prefers 'Pop'

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — At the age of 4, Peter Nero was able to make up tunes on a toy xylophone.

At 7, while visiting relatives, he began picking out the same tunes on a battered old upright piano.

By the time he was 14, Peter had won several awards and made a number of symphony ball appearances. He was regarded as a child prodigy, and it was taken for granted by his teachers and family that he would become a concert pianist.

"But the most important thing in this world is to be honest with yourself," said Peter. "The turning point in my life came at 22 when I decided I didn't want to be a classical concert artist. I always hated to practice, and you can't hate to practice and be that kind of a professional artist."

Despite his early dislike for spending long hours at the piano, Nero went on to carve out a unique niche in the musical world.

At 29, featuring a blend of classical forms with jazz improvisations he has become perhaps the most successful "pop" pianist in the field.

Each year he does 100 concerts, appears on up to a dozen television shows, and turns out three albums. He also has composed 30 tunes, acted in and written the music score for a film, and signed to do three more films. Peter certainly suffered no financial loss by turning his back on a purely classical career.

He worked several years on the cocktail lounge and supper club circuit.

He foresees no great change forthcoming in American music.

"The market today is dominated by teen-agers, so it is difficult to tell what the real musical tastes of the country are. Teen-agers seem to have a lot more money to spend than they did 15 or 20 years ago."

What about England's latest gift to culture—the long-haired Beatles?

"I think the Beatles are wonderful—but I still like music myself," he said.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—More jobs are opening up as the economy expands. But the percentage of those in the labor force that can't find work stays stubbornly high.

Just adding 750,000 more jobs in April—nicely above the usual seasonal trend—isn't enough.

Some years back an unemployment rate of 4 per cent of the labor force was considered too much. Now government officials are happy when they can report it's under 5.5 per cent. Somewhat wistfully they talk of chances of getting it below 5 per cent maybe by next year.

The labor force is the total at any one time of those with jobs or looking for them. The unemployment rate is the percentage of this total that reports it wants to work but can't find a job.

The number of those with jobs keeps rising. It's now above 70 million some 1.8 million more than a year ago.

But the labor force keeps rising just as fast or faster.

Part of this is due to the much discussed population explosion—the fact that now, and in the next few years, increasing numbers of young people will be reaching the job-holding or job-seeking age.

But in recent months a growing prosperity has increased the labor force from another source. Attractive jobs are opening up now and luring those who aren't interested at other times. They enter the labor force or drop out as the kind of work they like or can handle expands or declines in their communities.

Modern home appliances have made it possible for more married women to handle both housework and outside jobs.

Also complicating any assessment of the nation's labor picture is a growing amount of moonlighting in recent years. This is the holding of more than one job by the same person. Often this is to gain much needed additional income. But often it is to lift the family into a higher status, to provide desired gadgets or more expensive vacations.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AN INSTRUCTOR at the University of Pennsylvania stopped a rather shifty-eyed Freshman after a literature class one day to ask, "Did you write this poem that you submitted Wednesday yourself?"

"Yes, I did," answered the student modestly. "Every line of it." The instructor patted him lightly on the back and commented, "I'm very glad to meet you, Edgar Allan Poe. I thought you had died long ago."

Two darling old ladies were having lunch in the dining room of a residential hotel. "I've forgotten the name of it," one of them told the waitress, "but we both want one of those appetizers my nephew bought me here last week. Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

What is meant by the "removal of an ulcer by surgery?" Is the ulcer taken out? If so, can it form again?

When an ulcer of the stomach or the duodenum is removed by surgery, an extensive operation is performed. The particular type of operation is the choice made by the surgeon based on the individual patient's exact condition.

Usually, a portion of the stomach or intestine is removed. With modern anesthesia and antibiotics, the operation is a remarkably safe and successful one. Very infrequently in today's era of surgical accomplishment does an ulcer form again at the site of surgery.

Can anything be done to restore motion in the arm or leg of a patient who has had a stroke? The return of function of the arm or leg depends on a number of factors in stroke victims. The exact cause and site of the "vascular accident" in the blood vessels of the brain often determine recovery.

The science of Rehabilitation Medicine has contributed amazing techniques and devices for the restoration of function and the use of the limbs.

Is it safe for a woman to have more than one delivery of a child by Caesarean section?

It is very safe for more than one such delivery. Obstetricians have reported the safe delivery of three, four and even five children by Caesarean operation. The individual differences in women are so great that no universal rule can be established.

The pregnancy period should be a very happy one, unmarred by any unnecessary fears or confusion. All questions should be completely clarified by the attending doctors.

Is it true that there is a "male menopause?" The word "menopause" comes from the Greek meno (meaning "month") and pause (meaning "to cease"). Menopause, therefore, is a cessation of menstruation. The "male menopause," as a phase used to indicate the hormone changes that may occur in men past the age of 60.

The female menopause always occurs. The "male menopause," may or may not occur.

Memo for Dr. Eric Goldman

By John Chamberlain

Professor Eric Goldman of Princeton University, the man who, at President Johnson's behest, put together a panel of twenty-seven leading scholars to offer "fresh ideas" about the handling of the government's domestic problems, is now busy organizing a companion group to advise the White House on foreign affairs. This concerns me, for, having read and listened to Dr. Goldman over the years, I know he has a predilection for foreign affairs "experts" who (a) like to spend money abroad in a rather indiscriminate fashion and (b) think that some form of socialism is necessarily the wave of the future in the old colonial areas of the world.

Since Dr. Goldman is a decent and fair-minded fellow, it could be that he is still open to suggestions about his projected foreign affairs group. His panel on domestic problems is somewhat overweighted with names that have never had any difficulty in getting their ideas accepted by the Establishment (examples are John Kenneth Galbraith of Harvard, Richard Hofstadter of Columbia, and Clinton Rossiter of Cornell), but the group is leavened by some characters who really do have new ideas, notably the University of Rhode Island's professor of agriculture, Edward Hegbee, and Edwin Land, the president of the Polaroid Corporation. These are fecund offbeat people. It's not too late, maybe Dr. Goldman would accept some offbeat nominations for his foreign affairs counsel.

I don't suppose that it would be permissible for Dr. Goldman to name a foreigner such as Salvador de Madariaga, the Spanish philosopher, to his group. This "flexible" commentator has recently asked right out loud for an answer to the question of why the West hasn't been able to exploit the "knot of crises" that faces the Soviet Union. The foremost aim of the West, says de Madariaga, should be to remove the Iron Curtain, including the Berlin Wall, and to bring about the progressive liberalization of Eastern Europe. He notes that the Soviets need a chemical industry, and wonders just why political trades can't be tied to economic grants. This could be worked out in a way that would allow Premier Khrushchev to save his face, for it involves a course of diplomatic action somewhere between the traditional "hard" and "soft" lines of the two prevailing foreign policy schools.

If de Madariaga is not available for Dr. Goldman's committee because he is a Spaniard, I would suggest that Irving Kristol, a liberal commentator who should be entirely congenial to Dr. Goldman, be nominated to serve as a substitute for the Spanish philosopher.

Mr. Kristol began his intellectual career as something of a socialist. But recently he has discovered that the enemy of progress everywhere is the tendency of bureaucrats to harden into molds. The other day Mr.

Kristol suggested that the solution of the New York City transit problem was to hire General Motors to manage the subway system for the municipal authority. This flabbergasted his liberal friends, but they have been unable to combat the Kristol heresy. In foreign affairs, on which he also writes with originality, Mr. Kristol could be counted upon to come up with good ideas about breaking down the Iron Curtain in exchange for the western goods which Khrushchev so desperately needs.

Another good man whom Dr. Goldman might tap is Valentin Chu, a young Chinese who is now an American citizen. When U Thant, the Secretary of the UN, said that he was reading the latest work of Edgar Snow on China and was finding the latest work of Chiang Kai-shek "agrarian reformers" to be objective, some observers at the UN wondered out loud if he had also read Valentin Chu's recent book on China, "Ta Ta, Tan Tan," which is to be translated as "Fight, Fight, Talk, Talk." Unlike Edgar Snow, Chu can look at things dispassionately and write about them with an eye to contributing some real fruitful flexibility to foreign policy.

Well, here are two suggestions for Dr. Goldman, and I've run out of space. If he wants any more, he has only to ask.

Local Baha'i Group Lists Weekly Thought

The following is from Baha'i teachings: "Baha'u'llah constantly stressed the consciousness of oneness. 'Let not a man glory in that he loves his country; let him rather glory in this, that he loves his kind.' This transcendent love is the antidote for prejudice. This standard of citizenship can not be acquired by governmental decree, it must be striven for individually by each citizen. 'Pressing upon us from every aspect of life today is the simple sublimity of the Prophet's utterance some ninety years ago: 'This handful of dust, the earth, is but one home; let it be in unity.'"

RFK Not Surprised By Wallace Vote

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy says he "was not surprised" at the strong vote for Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama in the Indiana presidential primary. Kennedy, speaking to 300 law students at the University of Pennsylvania Wednesday, said "there is a revolution now in the United States over civil rights and people don't like to have their lives disturbed." "It's not surprising then," he added, "that one-third of the people in Indiana voted for Wallace. About one-fifth of the people are against everything all the time."

Christian Must Back Up Racial Views, Man Says

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—Why have white professors and students in this university area risked jobs and social ostracism to demonstrate and go to jail for Negroes?

"It is not enough for the Christian to say there must be justice," says a Duke University professor of religion. "An act of some sort is necessary to give some substance to your words."

The professor, Dr. Robert T. Osborn, 37, who has a wife and three children, was convicted of trespass for joining Negroes in a sit-in at a Chapel Hill restaurant. He was given 90 days on the roads in March and is appealing the sentence.

Osborn is one of four white men who told in separate interviews why they made the transition from "over coffee liberals" who talk about equal rights to activists who try to do something about them. He said he had found the Christian Church in the South usually unable "to change the moral climate" — and universities "generally ineffective in influencing the basic beliefs of students."

Osborn, an ordained Methodist minister, said years as a mere talker "have confirmed for me a basic theological insight: the Word is never effective until it becomes flesh, becomes action."

Another white man who joined Negroes in efforts to complete desegregation of Chapel Hill is William H. Wynn, 35. An assistant professor of psychology at the University of North Carolina, he also is appealing a 90-day sentence for the same sit-in. Wynn is married and has a year-old daughter. "I felt called upon to do something," he explained in describing his participation in a sit-in.

Wynn said his views on race stem from his "fundamentalist religious background — the Church of Christ, which taught that men should do what they can to establish justice on earth. The individual is called upon to question and to search for justice."

John Dunne, 21, and Pat Cusick, 32, are two white activists who quit the University of North Carolina last year. Both are now serving 12-month prison terms. They pleaded no contest to charges of resisting arrest, trespass, and street blocking during February demonstrations. They were sentenced by a Superior Court judge on April 24. Dunne and Cusick recently participated in a week-long fast protesting refusal of city fathers to adopt a free public accommodations ordinance.

"I had the feeling that I was not free; that I could not face a Negro without him seeing white instead of seeing me," Dunne said.

Dunne, a native of Cleveland, Ohio, and a graduate of Choate prep school, won a full tuition scholarship to the University of North Carolina. He dropped from the university as a senior to work with the Chapel Hill Freedom Committee and led mass demonstrations which resulted in the arrest of more than 200 persons.

Dunne said the moral dilemma of trying to decide on the racial issue is similar to a man drowning. "If a man is drowning and you have a chance of saving him and you don't, then you may not be found guilty in court, but you are morally guilty of killing him."

"Segregation is morally evil," Cusick said. "If a person co-operates with evil, it is an immoral act."

Cusick was born and raised in Gadsden, Ala. He said his great-grandfather is reputed to have founded the Ku Klux Klan in Etowah County, Ala., after the Civil War.

U.S. Says Aides Drugged in Soviet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Embassy in Moscow has protested to the Soviets that three American military attaches were drugged while on a trip to Odessa, the State Department disclosed Thursday.

Press officer Robert J. McCloskey, reporting the incident, gave few details and did not attempt to give a reason for the action.

Without naming the men, he said two assistant naval attaches and one assistant air attaché were drugged with mild effect while on a trip to the Black Sea port March 24-26. They were not harmed.

England's King James I, an unremitting opponent of smoking, once wrote anonymously: "A custom loathsome to the eye, hateful to the nose, harmful to the brain, dangerous to the lungs, and in the black stinking fume thereof, nearest resembling the horrible Stygian smoke of the pit that is bottomless."

Family Visit

They'll be here any minute! As soon as I finish the flowers I'll go and sit with Dad on the front porch, so we'll be right there when they all drive in. It'll be just wonderful to see them again.

Dad and I were saying last night that we couldn't have been blessed with better children or lovelier grandchildren. We've been so fortunate. Of course, there have been some tragic and terrible times, but God has never

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

failed to give us the strength to meet them, and the courage to go on again.

We've always been a churchgoing family, and I know the children never miss a Sunday even now. Tomorrow we'll all go to church together, and it will seem like the old days when our family was still here at home. We have so much to thank God for, every one of us.

Dear Abby: It Pays To Be Honest!

DEAR ABBY: The boy who sits in front of me in History is very smart and gets 100's on almost all his tests. I was stuck during a test last week and asked him for some answers. He gave them to me WRONG! I didn't know it until we got our papers back. He got 100 and I got 65! I was plenty mad and told him I thought he was a dirty cheat. I admit I wasn't very honest to ask him for the answers, but don't you think he was twice as dishonest to have purposely given them to me wrong?

CHEATED
DEAR CHEATED: Don't expect to find an honest partner for a crooked deal.

DEAR ABBY: What can a woman of 42 do to get a compliment out of her husband? I have spent hours in the beauty parlor getting a new hair - do. No comment. I bought material and made myself a beautiful outfit in his favorite color—blue. No comment. I use cosmetics artistically and even searched for a subtle perfume I thought he'd like. No comment. Every one else tells me I am a fine-looking woman, but he never says a word. I know he loves me and our children, but sometimes I think, "Oh, what the heck!"

NO COMPLIMENTS
DEAR NO: You're lucky. Some women get plenty of sweet talk from their husbands, and nothing else. By the way, when was the last time you complimented him?

DEAR ABBY: Last night I served blueberry pie for dessert and my husband, whom I shall call Dr. Jekyll, turned into a regular Mr. Hyde. He stormed around like a wild man, saying he never cared for blueberry pie because it took him two days to get the seeds out of his teeth, and asked why I insist on shoving it down his throat.

New Features Available in Home Freezers

By ELEANOR ROSS
Ever felt too tired to cook dinner? Or have you planned a dinner party only to find that every desirable entree was too rich for your budget?

These problems — and many more — can be solved. The answer is one of the new freezers now on the market.

Designed to let you take advantage of the many food bargains and plan your meals with ease, these freezers are also styled for handsome long life. Their cabinets of porcelain-on-steel, or enameled galvanized steel sheet, come in a variety of colors to complement any kitchen decor.

There are also stainless steel cabinets, long-lasting, good-looking. The best freezer liners are porcelain-on-steel (a glass-like ceramic finish fused right to the steel) impervious to chipping, scratching or denting. It is easy to keep clean without special detergents, and unlike other materials, will not retain food odors.

In selecting your freezer, remember that you need approximately four cubic feet per person. Freezers range from the 9.6 cubic-foot model with a capacity of 336 pounds of frozen food to the 19.5 cubic-foot model for 718 pounds.

You can have your choice of a chest or upright freezer. Chest models cost slightly less to buy and operate since opening the lid affects inside temperatures less than opening the door of an upright. But an upright is easier to organize and the foods are more readily accessible.

Freezers range in price from approximately $15 to $28 per cubic foot for the 12-foot model ($180 to $336 list price) which is the most popular. The freezer operating cost runs to about 20 cents per cubic foot per month.

The new freezers have a number of excellent, helpful features. There are quick-freezing shelves that permit you to freeze foods fast to insure excellent flavor quality.

To help you locate packages more easily, chest models have pull-out or swing-out baskets, and uprights have movable shelves. Chest lids are counter-balanced to prevent unexpected closing. And the hinges on chests are installed so the appliance can be flush to the wall.

Signal lights vary. On some models the light remains on as long as the freezer maintains the proper temperature. On others, a light goes on as a warning when the temperature falls below the proper level. Many have a device that prevents the power line from being accidentally unplugged.

When selecting your freezer, find out whether a spoilage warranty is included in the freezer price. This operates like an insurance policy and protects you against food losses in case of a breakdown. Once you've purchased your new freezer, keep it fairly full for economical operation and use frozen foods often so that there is a steady turnover.

Soon, you'll be wondering how you ever got along without this wonderful household appliance.

Red Cross Swim Director Is Announced

JOHN STRAPP

Don Collins, chairman of water safety, announced today that the summer swimming and water safety program of the American Red Cross will be directed by John Strapp.

Strapp is a biology and physical education teacher at Teays Valley High School and coaches the freshman basketball and baseball teams.

He is a 1958 graduate of Linden McKinley High School in Columbus, where he participated in varsity baseball and basketball for three years. His college preparation was at Ohio State University where he graduated in 1962.

While at Ohio State he took up a new and lesser known sport, Lacrosse, in which he gained honorable mention All-American as a goalie.

Last summer he served as assistant manager of Linden Beach Swim Club in Columbus and coached their swimming team. He plans to attend American Red Cross National Aquatic School at Purdue University in June, hoping to obtain ideas which will improve the swimming program in Pickaway County.

Anyone interested in serving as a volunteer instructor should call the chapter offices. This is an excellent opportunity for those with instructor certificates to renew their authorization.

Strapp will also serve as coach for the swim team at the Circleville Swimming Club. A complete class schedule and dates for registration will be announced soon.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Today is Friday, May 8, the 129th day of 1964. There are 237 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1945, the Germans surrendered and signed the unconditional surrender in Rheims, France.

On this date: In 1541, Hernando De Soto, leading a party of Spaniards exploring the Southwest, discovered the Mississippi River. In 1846, the opening battle of the Mexican War was fought at Palo Alto, Tex.

In 1918, German forces entered the Russian city of Rostov.

In 1942, the battle of the Coral Sea ended with an Allied victory.

In 1946, Congress sent to the White House a bill authorizing the return of war dead to this country for burial.

Ten years ago — French forces in Dien Bien Phu, Viet Nam, were preparing to surrender to the Communist-led Vietnamese after a 54-day siege of the fortress.

Five years ago — Indian Prime Minister Nehru cautioned Red China against trying to intimidate India by warlike speeches.

One year ago — Demonstrations were halted temporarily in Birmingham, Ala., as white and Negro leaders negotiated in an effort to end the racial crisis.

Employment Total Shows April Leap

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has reported an unusually large increase of 1.4 million jobholders last month, and an expected drop of 400,000 in unemployment.

A Labor Department spokesman said the employment increase was some 750,000 more than usual for April, and brought total civilian employment to 69.9 million.

The rise in jobs, however, did not cut the seasonally adjusted 5.4 per cent unemployment rate because the labor force swelled by about a million to 73.7 million.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics also said it is taking a conservative view of the size of the employment upsurge because most of it—500,000—was among women in household jobs such as domestic work and baby sitting.

"We are not putting a great deal of weight to the size of the increase because some of these women may be here next month and some may not," a spokesman said.

The drop in unemployment brought the total number of jobless down to 3.9 million. The decrease included about 100,000 long-term job seekers who had been out of work 15 weeks or longer.

Alaskan Quake Region Shows Signs of Revival

EDITOR'S NOTE — Associated Press writer Joe Rigert spent several weeks in Alaska after the March 27 earthquake. He visited areas of major damage and interviewed dozens of officials and citizens. Here is his appraisal of the situation six weeks after the disaster.

By JOE RIGERT

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Alaska is rising from the death and destruction of her Good Friday disaster, North America's greatest earthquake.

There are no miracles—only the resolute will of the Alaskan people, their faith in the future, and generous support from fellow Americans.

It is time taking, money and hard work.

The people of this state, a pioneering breed familiar with the challenges of a frontier have bent to the task.

Much of the clean-up has been accomplished.

Shattered cities are deeply involved in plans to rebuild and even relocate.

Many businessmen have patched up their shops or moved to new quarters.

Repairs are being rushed on the lifeline transportation network of ports, highways and the government-owned Alaska Railroad, which link the cities and towns of the south-central Alaska heartland.

Yet the marks of the earthquake and seismic waves remain plainly visible, despite the clean-up and repair.

The two battered skyscrapers, the hulk of the J. C. Penney department store, the sunken 4th Avenue area — all can still be seen at Anchorage, the state's largest city.

Down the Kenai Peninsula, the Seward waterfront remains cluttered with twisted track, scattered railroad engines and blackened oil storage tanks—the only remains of a once thriving railport industrial center.

And throughout the disaster area, damaged or destroyed buildings still offer mute testimony to the terrible force of nature.

The damage estimated from the March 27 catastrophe continues at $750 million, a sizeable portion of the $1.2 billion value of private property in the state. The official Alaska death count has been put at 115.

There has been little actual reconstruction so far — nearly six weeks after the disaster. It takes time to plan for the rebuilding of cities, even when, as in Alaska now, the planners have been doing months of work in weeks.

Even if the plans were completed and the money available, which is not the case, there would be other obstacles to any immediate start on the Alaskan reconstruction.

The short Alaska construction season does not begin until after the spring thaw this month. Cities like Anchorage, Seward and Valdez also must await the results of soil tests to determine what can be built, if anything, in areas where geologists have warned of landslide hazards.

Major rebuilding is being held up in Anchorage until the land has thawed and settled. The city fears the thaw may trigger more slides, upset foundations and cause additional damage.

Finally, Alaskans are waiting to see what aid they can expect from the federal government.

This is still the biggest uncertainty, the type and extent of assistance to come from Uncle Sam — the benevolent patron who controlled Alaska until statehood in 1959 and continues to play a dominant role in her development.

The Congress, acting in almost unprecedented speed after the earthquake, voted $50 million in disaster relief to help repair the utilities, roads and other public facilities.

The Alaska Legislature provided a $50-million bond issue. Other aid has come from the military, scores of state and federal agencies, private relief organizations, sister cities, labor unions, churches and businessmen in other states.

But many Alaskan officials, bankers and businessmen say they will need a great deal more from the federal government, particularly for hard-pressed private businesses and homeowners.

The $50-million bond issue voted by the legislature, says Gov. William A. Egan, is the most this state of 226,000 population can afford.

Egan says he hopes Congress will provide the state with enough budget support to meet anticipated revenue loss and emergency spending caused by the quake.

But the key to future recovery progress, he says, is change in existing law to permit federal

Accused Kidnap To Get Tests

FLORENCE, S.C. (AP)—Accused kidnaper Joseph Francis Bryan Jr., 25, was brought into U. S. District Court Thursday, and then taken out in chains after being ordered to the state mental hospital at Columbia for psychiatric observation.

The appearance of the man, suspected in the slaying of at least three young boys, before U.S. Judge J. Robert Martin Jr. was less than five minutes.

During his brief court appearance, the slightly-built, sandy-haired Bryan, suspected of luring several young boys away from their homes, stared stonily at the floor.

LBJ Grants Promotion To Negro

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has named Charlotte Hubbard to what was described today as the highest ranking permanent federal post to be held by a Negro woman.

Johnson announced the appointment of Mrs. Hubbard as a deputy assistant secretary of state for public affairs Wednesday, noting that her father—Dr. Robert R. Moton—had been a successor to Booker T. Washington as president of Tuskegee Institute.

Speaking at a news conference, Johnson added that Mrs. Hubbard has built "a distinguished reputation in civic affairs, education and government."

Born at Hampton, Va., 51 years ago, Mrs. Hubbard devoted nearly three decades to educational and public relations work before joining the State Department last year to help handle the department's relations with communities around the country.

Mrs. Hubbard's formal schooling included home economics at Tuskegee Institute and graduate work in education and physical education at Boston University and Bennington College, Vt.

City Court Lists Income for April

The Circleville Municipal Court listed an income of $7,567.24 from fines, costs, bond forfeitures and parking tickets during April.

The city's share of the income was $4,348.23 while the county received $1,553.80 and the state treasurer $1,417.72.

A total of 253 criminal cases were filed during the month and 241 cases were disposed.

There were 11 civil cases filed during the month of April and eight concluded. The city received $176.05 in court costs from the civil cases.

The Christian's Use of Leisure

CHRISTIAN IDEALS FOR A USEFUL, SATISFACTORY
LIFE

Scripture—Matthew 6:33; Mark 6:30-32; I Corinthians 6:12-14, 19, 20; Philippians 4:8.

By R. H. RAMSEY
OF ALL the objectives we have in life there is only one that will last throughout life, bringing continued joy in this life and the life to come. That is doing everything for the sake of the kingdom of God.

This is the primary objective of life: Laying not up on earth, but laying up in heaven. And this means longing to do, and doing, only those things which are in harmony with God's righteousness, that would meet with His fullest approval: a true yielding to God's will, asking Him to make the longing
real and deep and abiding in us.
Thus, every area of our complicated existence—our labor and our leisure—becomes unified,
with one supreme objective.

Jesus stresses the need for rest in our daily routine in the assigned verses from Mark.
Prior to this time, Jesus and His disciples had been teaching in the synagogue and healing

monition to do everything for the sake of the kingdom of God,
we are not to spend our leisure time in unholy pursuits.

Paul is most specific on this point in his first letter to the Corinthians. Of all the cities he ministered to on his missionary journeys, none was so immoral
as Corinth. It was completely given over to the worship of Aphrodite, the goddess of sexual love, and its very atmosphere for centuries was saturated with the degrading practices attendant to the worship of the goddess. Inevitably, this situation drew repeated rebuke
and discipline from Paul.

Although every morally indifferent thing is as lawful for Paul as it is for the layman, he does not indulge himself because he has dedicated his life and body to Christ. So, too, the Christian Christians. Their bodies are temples of the Holy Spirit, instruments for the service of God and, as such, should the sick, followed by the same ministry in surrounding villages.

Then Jesus sent the disciples forth in pairs to do a similar work. Thus, for some time, Christ and the disciples had been engaged in a considerable period of hard work. There had been much coming and going,
with little time for leisure.

When the disciples had gathered once more, Jesus takes them with Him to a separate place where they rest a while. This was not a rest for their bodies alone; it was a rest for their tired minds. Jesus was very much aware that, without periodic rest, a nervous collapse could occur. How much more necessary is this need for rest
today, what with the abnormal speed at which we work and the pressures of modern living.

What we do with our leisure depends largely upon our tastes, financial means and the amount of time we have. Obviously, if we are to follow Christ's advice, we must use our leisure

in the eighth verse, fourth chapter of Paul's letter to the Philippians, we have one of the loftiest statements of man's mental life to be found in all literature, with objectives we may well continue to seek as long as we live.

The reference is to those things which correspond with the deep, unchanging truths of the moral universe, as revealed in Jesus Christ. We are admonished to think only of true, honorable, just, pure, lovely, good things. We are to let right, in all its practical, noble forms,
be the subject of our thoughts.
Thus we are strong, not in ourselves, but in God's presence,
peace and strength.

Tradition Is Mother-in-Law

Clerics, Architects Say Art, Religion Are Wed

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Each year, America spends billions of dollars for new churches, the modern design of which causes tradition-minded worshippers to wonder if the architects and the clergy have had a parting of the ways.

Those doubters would have found their answer recently in Dallas where more than 1,000 of the nation's leading church

architects and religious leaders demonstrated that there is a unity of purpose and "a marriage between art and religion."

The National Conference on Church Architecture reflected agreement that today's often startling structures can mean
as much to 20th century man
as the massive Gothic forms of the Middle Ages.

"Old art and modern art have the same thing in common — they are each in step with their times," said the Rev. Roger Ortmayer, professor of Christianity and the arts at Southern Methodist University's Perkins
School of Theology.

"Religion and art are married
—a marriage made in heaven and no divorce is possible," Dr.
Ortmayer said. "But heavy-

handed tradition is the mother-in-law."

"For a work of architecture
to be understood by common people, by the man in the street
it must cling to the symbolic shape that gives it character,
although it may be dressed according to the fashion of the moment. Style changes but character must stand," said
Dr. Felix Candela, distinguished
Mexican architect.

All good art becomes in a sense religious even though it is not ecclesiastical, Edward Anders Sovik, a Northfield, Minn., architect told the conference.

The Minnesota architect said that function alone is not enough
—"if it were we might well
complete the destruction of the Parthenon because it has no further function at all."

As for the symbolists, he said
"it doesn't take an artist to make a cross-shaped building,
a groined vault signifying hands
joined in prayer, indirect lighting for mystery or symbols of the Apostles, and they don't make good architecture."

Sovik said the answer is simply that the artist must be concerned with truth.

"When he is certain that architecture is faithful to the truth his creation will indeed move people," he said. "It will have the direction and vitality of
life."

Ohio Senators Deny Tie to Job for Ohioan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Aides of Ohio Democratic Sens. Stephen M. Young and Frank J.
Lausche say they know nothing about rumors that Theodore
M. Berry, a Cincinnati councilman, is in line for a federal appointment. A Young aide did say, however, that the senator
some time ago gave a blanket endorsement for Barry. The rumors were circulating yesterday.

The signal took about 2½ seconds to cover the 480,000 mile route. It is about 75 miles from Athens to Columbus.

The President's address was picked up at Athens, bounced off the moon by a 10 kilowatt transmitter and received and recorded by equipment at the "saucer field" of Ohio State's antenna laboratory.

The laboratory has four 30-foot parabolic reflectors in a field about two miles west of the campus. The reflectors are employed in interplanetary and intercontinental communications research projects sponsored by the Rome, N.Y., Air Development Center of the U.S.
Air Force.

Ohio State's Antenna Laboratory previously had received unmodulated signals via the moon,
but the President's address was the laboratory's first test of a moon relay with a voice-modulated signal.

The laboratory also has plans
later to re-transmit the recorded address for relay via the Echo II satellite, but the date for this transmission has not been set.

MISS ELMa RAINS

Teacher of the Week

By PAT QUINCEL

Miss Elma T. Rains has been chosen as the teacher of the week. She was graduated from Ohio State. Her major was Latin and her minors were Spanish, English, and history. She teaches Latin 1 and 11, and English 1 to almost 125 students a day. Miss Rains taught at Uhrichsville for three years and has taught at Circleville the rest of the time. She announced her retirement at the end of this year. Miss Rains said, "I'm looking forward to retirement. Now I can do everything I've always wanted to do. I loved teaching and have never regretted one minute of it." Miss Rains' home town is Grandview Heights, but lives in an apartment on E. Main St. here in Circleville. Her hobbies are all sports, traveling, sewing, cooking and reading. Her favorite sports are baseball, football and basketball. When asked what she would miss most about school, she replied, "I'll miss my friends and the students most of all, but I'm glad I won't have to be getting up at 6:30 a. m. every morning!"

Students and Teachers Pay Tribute to Miss Rains

Zuella Coleman — "I have her for English this year and she's a real nice teacher. She explains things very clearly."

Carolyn Chaffin — "I like her real well. She's a marvelous teacher! She's one of my favorite teachers."

Jean Cassill — "In English class, she explains things clearly, so the students can better understand the subject. I like her real well."

Jill Jenkins — "I like her. She was strict but I have respect for her. She was my teacher for Latin I and II."

Cindy Strouse — "Every student should be proud to say their teacher for English this year was Miss Rains. I learned a lot in her class. She's very understanding and easy to get along with."

Eddie Evans — "She's the best teacher I ever had. I just wish I had studied and learned more."

Connie Stevens — "Miss Rains is really a good teacher. At times she is strict, but at the end of the year it pays. I know Circleville High School regrets losing such a fine teacher."

Betty Gillian — "She was my Latin I teacher and I think she was great! She was very understanding to the students."

Jean Jackson — "I type for her. She is very nice and considerate. I just love her!"

Judy Gattrell — "I've never had her for a teacher. She was my study hall teacher, and she was very nice and understanding."

Judy Styers — "I had her for Latin and she was a great teacher and a friend to all of her students."

Carolyn Lewis — "I had never had her for a teacher, only for study hall. She is very understanding and every student should respect her in every way."

Lucy Hopkins — "My freshman year of Latin under Miss Rains was invaluable not so much because of the Latin, I learned but because of the way the class was conducted. One day he was prepared each and every day or he was sorry."

Miss Rains saw to that. Giving credit to students for work well done and making them regret poor work was, and I'm sure still is, one of the best ways for a teacher to deal with the students. This she could do so well. Anyone who has been in her classes can't help but feel the loss of a truly great teacher."

Paula Hopkins — "I feel really proud to say I've had Miss Rains as a teacher. Especially am I proud of the high standards she has stressed to her students and the outstanding quality she has shown as a teacher. She commands respect. I will probably not remember Miss Rains by the Latin she taught, but by the many other lessons I have learned from her. I'm thankful for all the help she has been to me and others."

Miss Adkinson — "She's very nice. I like her real well. I have enjoyed working with her. She's very cooperative and understanding."

Mr. Fisher — "Miss Rains has outstanding qualities of frankness, and sincere concern for her students."

Mr. Barret — "In the four years I have worked with Miss Rains, I have enjoyed her cooperation very much."

Mary Ellen Rader — "She was my English teacher, and I enjoyed her very much. I learned a lot in her class. She explained things very thoroughly and made sure the class as a whole understood what she was talking about." Mrs. Perone — "I wish to honor Miss Rains who has made an enviable record as a teacher, advisor, and friend at Circleville High School and who will be remembered by all. She has always been so dedicated and one for whom I shall always have admiration and respect."

Mr. Cress — "She speaks when necessary to say something; is stern at the proper time; demanding on occasions; jovial at other times; independent, but not to extreme; she demands the fullest respect of her students as well as her fellow teachers. This is the way I like to describe Miss Rains."

"In our many years of working together her methods of handling students have been an inspiration to me and I'm sure to many teachers just starting out in the profession."

"Her influence over the large number of students who have been fortunate enough to attend her classes has undoubtedly been great."

"Like other teachers and students, I am glad to be a friend of Miss Rains."

Try, Then Try Again

by ANITA HENDRICKSON

Do you ever get discouraged and think "what's the use, why try?" Don't! You know that old saying, "If at first you don't succeed, try try again." Give it a try, you may surprise yourself.

Sometimes the things we are assigned and strive for in school may not seem important to us at the time, but we find out that we are usually asked to do things for a purpose. Many things learned now will help us accomplish something that will be to our advantage now and as we go out into the world.

We, as students, need to be put to the test to see if we can make the grade! Let's have the attitude that we will try as best we can.

Two CHS Seniors Attend Hi-Y Model Legislature

By DAVE THOMAS

On April 24 and 25 Dave Thomas and John Wardell, two C.H.S. Seniors, were privileged to attend the 13th annual model legislature sponsored by the Ohio-West Virginia Area Y.M.C.A.

Representing the local Hi-Y club, they stayed at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus and had legislative sessions in the State Capitol Building. They also enjoyed a banquet in the grand ballroom of the Deshler Hilton and later a hootenanny.

Thomas, a senator, and Wardell, a representative, left the model sessions early in order to attend the Junior - Senior Prom here, so they were not present for the Governor's Ball, which was also held in the hotel.

Atlanta Hears Hard-Hitting LBJ Appeal

Johnson also appealed for rejection of extremism. Conjuring memories of the Civil War, he said:

"Heed not those who come waving the tattered and discredited banners of the past—who seek to stir old hostilities and kindle old hatreds—who preach battle between neighbors and bitterness between states. That is the way back toward the anguish from which we came."

The President, covering considerable ground in 2,400 words, even made indirect reference to his own unannounced but obvious plans to seek election to a four-year term in November.

Declaring that "we are today one nation, one people, one America," Johnson said: "I would not be looking forward to November, were this not true. And I am looking forward to November."

In his swift passage Thursday through Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee and North Carolina, Johnson also made clear his zest for his job and his hope of retaining it.

This was most clear in a speech at Knoxville, Tenn., when he coupled an appeal for support of his antipoverty program with jabs at two Republicans who may try to get his job in the fall—former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona.

Johnson said Republicans already are calling his antipoverty proposals a "cruel hoax"—words used last week by Nixon. And he said that if such men had their way, "The 'for sale' sign would be on TVA this very hour." It was Goldwater who once suggested that the Tennessee Valley Authority be put up for sale.

The sharpest jabs, included in Johnson's prepared text, were omitted in delivery. But the traveling White House said he stood by them.

In these passages, he labeled "cruel hoax" critics and those who would tell TVA as "men of timid faith and narrow vision."

And he added: "I do not believe you want to enslave the American dream to men who would turn it into a nightmare."

In Atlanta and half a dozen other cities in Appalachia and the South, cheering thousands turned out to greet the President. Total official estimates of the crowds along the way came to nearly half a million.

Whatever the number, and official estimates often get inflated, the number was impressive.

For his address to the men who make the laws of Georgia, Johnson obviously sought to make his remarks the more acceptable by linking them to the state's motto—wisdom, justice, moderation.

He cited justice in talking about civil rights. He cited wisdom in urging the rejection of extremism. And he cited moderation in touching on the problems of poverty, urban expansion and conservation.

On the latter point, Johnson said: "To meet such problems, in such a varied and ample land as ours, bold action requires broad agreement—and consensus requires moderation."

Recalling Georgian Henry Grady's 1886 prophecy of a "New South," Johnson said Grady's words not long ago "seemed less a hopeful prophecy than a hollow promise."

Alluding to the aftermath of the Civil War, the President continued: "Old ways had crumbled—carrying with them that which was fine as well as that which was flawed—replaced by a blighted land and a bitter people."

Today, he said, "we see a New South—a South of union and freedom."

Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

JOBS: There were 69.9 million Americans at work last month—a 1.4-million increase from March—and still the jobless rate was unchanged at 5.4 per cent.

The reason: The labor force itself increased—by about 1 million to 73.7 million.

Most of the increase in jobs was among women doing such household work as domestic service and babysitting.

Unemployment declined an expected 400,000, bringing the total number of jobless down to 3.9 million.

WHITE HOUSE: Sales of the White House guidebook are expected to provide at least $100,000 this year to help refurbish the White House.

Almost 1 million guidebooks, at $1 each, have been sold since their publication last year.

JFK: A bronze bust of President John F. Kennedy has been presented to his widow for the Kennedy Memorial Library.

It is a gift of the late president's three military aides: Maj. Gen. Chester V. Clifton of the Army, Capt. Tazewell T. Shepard Jr. of the Navy and Brig. Gen. Godfrey T. McHugh of the Air Force.

The sculptor is Felix de Weldon, who designed the Iwo Jima monument in Arlington, Va.

The bust will be placed in the White House Cabinet Room until the library at Cambridge, Mass. is completed.

DEVIATES: The Navy has issued a "toughly worded new order stressing that homosexuals 'are security and reliability risks' and providing an avenue for getting them out of the service faster."

"Their prompt separation from the naval service is essential," said the order from Secretary of the Navy Paul N. Nitze.

The new order speeds the ouster of deviates by allowing offenders in certain kinds of serious cases to resign from the service and escape court martial.

To resign, a man must sign a statement acknowledging that he may be deprived of virtually all his veterans rights "and that I may expect to encounter substantial prejudice in civilian life."

Motor Vehicle Sales Total 183 in April

Pickaway Countians purchased 183 new motor vehicles during April, according to a report released today by the Clerk of Courts Title Department.

Of the total, 125 were passenger cars, 15 were station wagons, 18 were trucks, 15 were house trailers, one motor bike, one motor scooter, three motorcycles, one camping trailer and four travel trailers.

The department processed 1,424 titles for both new and used vehicles. A total of 599 notations of liens were made while 470 liens were cancelled.

Chevrolet sales were first on the local new car market. Thirty-eight were sold including one station wagon and six trucks. Ford placed second with 36 sales; nine station wagons and six trucks.

Other new car totals for April were: Pontiac, 23; Dodge, 8; Plymouth, 9; Rambler, 8; Oldsmobile, 11; Mercury, 5; Buick, 7; Chrysler, 1; Triumph, 1; Volkswagen, 2; Cadillac, 3; GMC Trucks, 3; International Trucks, 1.

Recalling Georgian Henry Grady's 1886 prophecy of a "New South," Johnson said Grady's words not long ago "seemed less a hopeful prophecy than a hollow promise."

Alluding to the aftermath of the Civil War, the President continued: "Old ways had crumbled—carrying with them that which was fine as well as that which was flawed—replaced by a blighted land and a bitter people."

Today, he said, "we see a New South—a South of union and freedom."

The Du Quoin Fair has been the scene of the famed Hambletonian Race since 1957.

Highlights of LBJ Visit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here are some highlights of President Johnson's visit to Columbus and Athens, Ohio, Thursday:

The President gave his Athens audience this reason for his whirlwind trip to Ohio: "I came out here to see you because we can't always see poverty from the Capitol in Washington."

Rigid security was the word at both Lockbourne Air Force Base near Columbus, where the President first arrived, and in Athens.

At the air base, highway patrolmen, air force marksmen and Secret Service officials all carrying binoculars and high-powered rifles, prowled the roofs of three buildings in the area where the president stopped. On the ground more than 150 officials put up a tight blockade against the crowd of 5,000.

At Athens, all the buildings along the one-mile motorcade route were closed and locked, the windows were shut and all the shades were pulled down. The night before the Secret Service confiscated a rifle a student was cleaning in his dormitory room—purely as a precautionary measure, the Secret Service said.

But the tight security wasn't enough to prevent Johnson from breaking ahead of his Secret Service chain at Lockbourne to shake hands with as much of the crowd as he could.

"God bless you, Mr. President," cried an elderly lady. "I'm going to vote for you."

Yelled a man carrying an AFL-CIO placard.

Lynda Bird Johnson, who accompanied her father on the trip, received a bouquet from the Ohio University chapter of her sorority, Zeta Tau Alpha.

Gov. James A. Rhodes, who shared the speaking platform with the President at Athens, welcomed Johnson to "the family of Ohio."

"We believe that the preeminence of Ohio is due to the sacrifice of Ohioans down through the years," Rhodes said. "Nothing is more important than respect for constituted authority, conferred by the people." So long as that respect stands, the nation will remain strong, Rhodes added.

Johnson Shows Knack with Kids

ATHENS, Ohio (AP)—Lyndon Baines Johnson, who was Texas state director for the National Youth Foundation nearly 30 years ago, has shown that he still knows how to work with young people.

With some help from his daughter Lynda Bird, 20, he had them cheering his challenges Thursday during an outdoor speech on the Ohio University campus. In an impromptu ending to his prepared text, the President called on the campus to enlist in his war against poverty.

Congress will pass pending bills dealing with the federally financed Appalachian area development effort and his war on poverty and civil rights, the chief executive predicted.

Then, he said, young people can go to administrators of these programs and declare: "I am here. I am ready to enlist as a volunteer."

It was a predominantly young crowd—college men in shirt-sleeves and coeds in cottons, with an occasional older person or youngster on parent's shoulders—which faced the President across Ohio University's tree-shaded quadrangle. It was estimated at 25,000.

In spending part of his 167th day as President in Athens, Johnson became the second chief executive in office in history to do so. The other was Herbert Hoover, who campaigned here from the back platform of a railroad car in 1932.

This southeastern Ohio community, resting in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains, dates back to the late 18th century. Ohio University was the first such institution west of the Alleghenies, and this is the 160th anniversary year of its founding.

That was one reason for the President's coming.

Thursday's visit was Johnson's second to Ohio since he became the nation's chief executive after the assassination of John F. Kennedy last Nov. 22. He arrived by jet at Lockbourne Air Force Base south of Columbus and was ferried the 75 miles to Athens and back by helicopter.

Earlier this year, he visited Ohio to make an inspection flight over the flooded Ohio Valley.

Lynda Bird, who cut classes at George Washington University to swing through Maryland, West Virginia, Ohio, Tennessee, North Carolina and Georgia with her father, seemed to be having the time of her life.

The president had a salute for youthful 41-year-old Dr. Vernon R. Alden, Ohio University president, who just became chairman of his national Job Corps to aid youths who are danger of becoming chronically unemployable.

"Under Dr. Alden's leadership," the President said, "Ohio University is setting a national standard of leadership in attacking the problems of area economic development."

The President announced that the Lorain-Elyria area has been taken off the list of areas in the "substantial unemployment" category. Three years ago, he said, Ohio had 11 such area. Now there is just one.

Ex-Pennsy Brakeman Is Awarded $40,000

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Jackson DeValut 43, of Canton, Ohio, has been awarded $40,000 in damages against the Pennsylvania Railroad in a suit arising from an accident in the Conway, Pa., yards in 1962.

Federal court made the award Thursday. DeValut, a former PRR brakeman, contended he injured his back Feb. 17, 1962, when he tried to throw a defective switch and has been unable to work since.

Dodger Chiefs Said Worried By Sputter

General Manager Denies Trying To Trade Off Podres

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Are officials of the Los Angeles Dodgers beginning to be concerned with the sputtering start made by the defending world champions?

That seemed to be the big question today following two developments—still another loss by the weak-hitting Dodgers, 2-1 to the Houston Colts Thursday night, and a trade report involving pitcher Johnny Podres.

Denied by the Dodgers, the report stated that Podres, who in his only appearance on April 25 was struck in the elbow by a Warren Spahn pitch and has been on the mound for only two innings this season.

"I know nothing whatsoever about it," said Dodger General Manager Buzzie Bavasi. "I haven't talked to anyone on the Houston club. There's absolutely nothing to it."

The loss to the Colts was the 13th in 22 games for the Dodgers and left them six games behind the National League leading San Francisco Giants. The Dodgers are in front of only the Colts and New York Mets.

In all, the Dodgers have scored only 73 runs and hit only 14 homers—eight by Frank Howard. Maury Wills, who collected four hits against the Colts for a .309 batting average, is the only regular hitting over .300. The team is batting .235, eighth in the league.

While the Dodgers were battling their problems, Tom Haller's two-run single in the eighth gave San Francisco a 7-6 edge over the Chicago Cubs. Clay Dalrymple's two-run homer started Philadelphia on the way to a 9-6 victory over Milwaukee. St. Louis defeated Pittsburgh 4-2, and the New York Mets nipped Cincinnati 3-2.

In the American League, Cleveland walloped Baltimore 2-4. Minnesota crushed the Los Angeles Angels 9-1. Boston whipped Detroit 7-3 and the New York Yankees downed Washington 9-6. Kansas City and the Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

The Colts scored in the fifth on a single by Walt Bond, a double by Jim Wynn and Bob Aspromonte's sacrifice fly. Winning pitcher Bob Bruce led off the sixth with a single and came around with the clincher on a sacrifice and Al Spangler's single.

Dalrymple, hitless in 22 previous trips to the plate, hammered his homer off Hank Fischer following a single by John Herrstein, snapping a 2-2 tie. The Phillies took it from there. Herrstein had a double and two singles for the night. Art Mahaffey, tagged for homers by Joe Torre and Eddie Mathews, needed Jack Baldschun's relief help before getting the victory.

The Giants went into the eighth trailing the Cubs 6-5, but singles by Jesus Alou and Willie Mays—the third hit for each—set up Haller's game-winning single off Lindy McDaniel. Mays' three hits lifted his average to .479. Billy Williams went 4-for-5 for the Cubs, who pulled out to a 4-0 first inning lead, but couldn't hold it.

Roberto Clemente hit a two-run homer in the first inning, out Curt Simmons, now 3-2, and Roger Craig stopped the Pirates the rest of the way. The Cardinals scored all their runs in the fourth against Bob Veale.

Al Jackson evened his record at 3-3 by scattering nine Reds' hits. Tim Lincecum's two-run first-inning homer off Jim Maloney, gave the Mets a lead

Jets Hurler Yields 2 Homers, Wins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Columbus pitcher Bill Knoch took three knocks—all homers—in stride in the fourth inning and went on to beat Rochester 7-3 Thursday night in an International League game.

The 21-year-old Rookie fast baller yielded only three other hits for his second victory in three decisions. In the only other game, Richmond tripped Syracuse for the second straight night 6-1.

Columbus overcame a 3-2 deficit when Rochester's Steve Demeter, Jim Liggett and Paul Blair blasted round-trippers.

The Jets had scored first on a two-run homer by Ted Savage. A walk and three singles put them out front to stay in the sixth inning. Rookie Dave Dwiakowski joined the home run parade with his second smash in two nights in the seventh.

Warren C. Giles is serving his 13th year as National League president.

They never lost. Charlie Smith scored for New York in the second when he singled, stole second and came across on a single by Al Moran. Johnny Edwards homered for the Reds.

Tiger Golfers Edge Panthers In 5-3 Match

The Circleville High School golf team edged Pleasant View, 5-3, yesterday in a match played on the Beacon Lights golf course.

Bruce Helwage and Dick Patrick both shot rounds of 39 in the nine-hole match for Circleville. Rhinehart and Carl Newman carded similar scores for Pleasant View.

Chuck Smith had a 40 for Circleville and Richard Fuhrman a 42. For the host team, Kidwell posted a 42 and Miller a 45.

The Beacon Lights course was relatively short but the greens were rough according to Tiger golf coach Bob Ransom. He noted that his charges three putted a number of holes.

CHUCKIE SMITH posted the only birdie of the match. Tomorrow Circleville travels to the Washington C. H. Country Club for the South Central Ohio League match.

Last week the Tigers had a 304 on the course at Washington. However, Ransom noted they had an exceptional day and reported he thought a 310 or 315 would probably win the league championship tomorrow.

Her termed the championship a three team race between Circleville, Pleasant View and Washington C. H. Pleasant View, the only team to defeat the Tigers this year, has defending medalist champion, Carl Newman.

Other teams will be from Hillsboro, Wilmington and Miami Trace. Franklin Heights and Greenfield do not have golf teams.

Grant Files Warning on Beanballs

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Jim (Mudcat) Grant of league-leading Cleveland warns there may be trouble if opposing pitchers continue to suddenly lose their control when teammate Leon Wagner or any other Indians step up to the plate.

"There has to be a stop put to throwing at Leon or anybody else on the team," Grant said Thursday night after he got credit for a 9-4 victory over Baltimore.

"There is only one way to handle it—and it's up to the pitchers."

Grant and Tito Francona, both of whom smashed two-run homers, were hit by Dave McNally, the Orioles' starter, who last Sunday in Baltimore and is now 2-1.

"I'd say he just was pitching me tight," declared Francona, who had a bruise on his arm.

"It was a curve ball that kicked me around the shin bone," explained Grant. "I don't think he wanted to put anyone on base at that time."

Grant, a right-hander with a 2-2 record, said he thought if opposing pitchers "keep throwing" at Wagner "it's bound to bother him."

Wagner, leading the team in home runs with five and the league in runs batted in with 20, had one hit in four at bats. He singled home Grant in the fifth inning after Grant was hit by a pitched ball and then stole second.

Tigers Lose SCO Game, 3-1, at Pleasant View

The Circleville High School baseball team lost a heartbreaking South Central Ohio League game to Pleasant View yesterday by a 3-1 score.

The loss puts the Tigers at 2-2 in the league race. The Pleasant View Panthers own a 4-0 record.

Tiger baseball mentor Don Neff said Panther hurler George Fannin "looked like the best pitcher we've faced all year."

Veteran Circleville pitcher George Reeser missed the game because of illness. But Neff credited Skip Lutz with a standout mound performance.

He was touched for three hits, fanned five and did not walk a single batter.

CIRCLEVILLE was on top 1-0 going into the bottom of the fifth inning, when a pop fly with two runners on scored one run. McConnell, who hit the ball, ended up on third base on a throwing error while the second run was scoring. He then scored on a sacrifice bunt.

And that was the ballgame. In the top of the final inning, pinchhitter Chet Hill was walked, but Lutz's hard hit line drive to the short stop gave Pleasant View an easy double play.

Howard Dade popped out for the final out with a runner on base.

Circleville's lone run came in the fourth inning when Dade led off with a double, ad-

John Rush scored the first run for Teays Valley in the first inning. The big third frame saw Kinsell, Clay, Fridley and Kuhlwein cross the plate for the Vikings.

All runs came off Groveport starter, Boyer. He fanned eight, walked three and allowed four hits.

GERHOLD finished for the visitors. He whiffed one and walked two.

Monday the Vikings play a two-night doubleheader, with Hamilton Twp. providing the competition at Teays Valley.

Jackson Tops Logan Elm by 5-3 Margin

Visiting Jackson High School, with Meredith O'Dell on the mound, defeated Logan Elm in a Pickaway County League baseball game yesterday, 5-3.

O'Dell, touched for six hits, saw the Braves move ahead 3-0 in the third inning. But the Wildcats came up with a four-run fourth frame and added an insurance run in the top of the fifth.

The left-handed junior fanned 12 and walked three in the seven inning game.

Jeff Lutz, Logan Elm hurler, fanned 15 and did not walk a single Jackson batter.

HOWEVER, the Wildcats were able to effectively bunch their seven hits to provide the winning margin.

Dickie Hix blasted a triple for the longest hit of the game, while O'Dell doubled. For Logan Elm, Jeff Lutz collected three of the six hits in four trips to the plate.

The Braves have a 2-2 record in county league play. Saturday they host Paint Valley in a Scioto Valley Conference game at 1:30 p. m.

Deers Edge Indians, 7-6

Pickaway County Loop Race Is Tight

The Pickaway County League race developed into a tight battle last night, with Williamsport posting a 7-6 win over loop leading Monroe.

The Deers have a 2-2 record in the circuit while Monroe now stands at 2-1. All teams in the league have lost at least one game.

The Deers won the game while gaining only two hits off a trio of Monroe hurlers. However, the Indian moundsmen had control difficulty, walking 10 men.

In the fourth inning the Deers got their big break of the game. Indian pitchers walked the bases full with the score knotted at 3-3.

A WILD pitch let two runs move across the plate. The third run scored when the Monroe pitcher, covering home plate, missed the throw from the catcher.

Neil Coleman went the route for the winners, scattering seven singles, whiffing four and walking one.

Monroe hurlers Armentrout, Blair and Moore fanned three Deers.

THANKS TO VOTERS — Carrying signs saying "Thank You," the Circleville High School Band marched through the downtown area yesterday afternoon as a token of appreciation to voters for approving the bond issue for Circleville schools on Tuesday. The parade originated at CHS and continued north on Court St. and through the business district. Patrolman Jack Mills led the parade on the city's three-wheel motorcycle.

News of World in Brief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Members of the Republican State Central Committee elected in Tuesday's primary will hold an organization meeting in the Neil House here on May 15.

State Chairman Ray C. Bliss announced the date of the session today.

Members are expected to re-name Bliss state chairman.

The committee is composed of a man and woman elected from each of Ohio's 23 congressional districts.

WARROAD, Minn. (AP) — KaKeeKaKee Sic, Chippewa Indian medicine man believed to be 120, will have the first birthday of his life May 14.

Despite his age, KaKeeKaKee Sic never was able to fix his birth date. But the City Council decided a tribute was necessary for the oldest resident of Warroad, a town of 1,400 in northwestern Minnesota.

May 14 was chosen because records—some descended from Indian legends—indicate that KaKeeKaKee Sic was born about 120 years ago "after the return of the wild geese" and "shortly after the ice left lake of the woods."

PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP) — If the Republicans are to regain their position as the majority party, they "must get down and talk to the people," says former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Eisenhower, speaking to a GOP fund-raising luncheon Thursday, said the GOP must destroy "the myth that the Republican party is the party of the rich."

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Methodists who suffer hardship by joining in racial demonstrations will be able to get financial aid from a fund set up by the church's General Assembly.

A resolution, passed Thursday by the some 900 delegates over protest of Southerners, said both ministers and laymen will be eligible for relief.

Funds, to be collected at Sunday services and in special local drives, will go to "Methodist ministers and laymen who, on the basis of conscience, witness to a racially inclusive church."

HEIDELBERG, Germany (AP) — A U.S. Army captain who crossed into East Germany a year ago has been returned by Soviet officials. U.S. officials are investigating the case.

Cap. Alfred Svenson, 31, was returned to U.S. military control at Wartha Thursday. The East-West checkpoint is near Eisenach, where Svenson crossed into East Germany on May 4, 1963, while his tank unit was on maneuvers. The East Germans said he asked for asylum.

Svenson, a bachelor, was born in Lithuania and became a U.S. citizen in 1955. His mother, Antonia N. Svenson, lives in Washington, D.C.

LONDON (AP) — Heavy gains in local elections increased the opposition Labor party's prospects today for victory in Britain's general election this fall.

Results from all but three of the 355 boroughs that voted Thursday gave Labor a gain of 254 seats on borough councils, the great majority from Conservatives and pro-Conservative independents.

The Conservatives showed a net loss of 132. Laborites won control of 10 towns, including the industrial centers of Portsmouth and Darlington.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Indonesia, which has built the mightiest war machine in Southeast Asia with Soviet aid, has a new promise of Soviet help in its drive to crush Malaysia.

The official news agency Antara said today Soviet Ambassador N. A. Michailov promised "the Soviet government will keep on helping the Indonesian people in their campaign to crush the neo-colonialist project of Malaysia."

"The Soviet support to the Indonesian struggle is concrete and not merely in words," Michailov said.

It was not clear whether this meant the Soviet government would increase the 1961 arms deal which provided Indonesia with $1 billion in modern Soviet weapons, including jet fighters and missiles.

Farmers Urged To Be Alert For Cholera

With the usual peak season for hog cholera outbreaks just ahead, farmers have been issued a warning to have their pigs protected against this No. 1 swine killer while there is still time.

The only sure way to protect pigs against cholera is to have them vaccinated in advance of an outbreak, according to the warning by the American Foundation for Animal Health. Such vaccination is one of the key points in the current nation-wide drive to eradicate the disease.

The eradication drive has now reached a critical stage in some areas, and may soon reach that stage in others. If cholera can be wiped out in this country, it could mean $55 million or more per year of additional income to American farmers, says the Foundation.

Several points of caution were cited in connection with vaccination. First, was the suggestion that farmers have a veterinarian inspect their pigs first, to determine whether they are in condition to receive vaccination.

If they are not in condition they may not develop proper immunity. It was also suggested that selection of the type of vaccine to be used should likewise be left to the veterinarian, depending on the local situation and the condition of the herd.

Accident Causes Slight Injury

Hamilton, headed north on Atwater, said he failed to negotiate the sharp curve at Morris Road. His auto struck a guy wire.

Patrolmen Dixie Watters and Homer Adams said the front end of the car was extensively damaged.
